

Knoll Presents Brian Graham

April 27th, 2011- Brian Graham, designer of the Graham Collection and the Updated Reff Profiles, was at the Knoll showroom in Tempe. Brian shared information as to how the corporate workplace is evolving to be more flexible and responsive to support performance as well as individual achievement.

Brian has been successful in designing private office furniture that is modern and yet satisfies contemporary concerns. His work has been recognized with design awards from prestigious organizations nationwide, including:

- American Institute of Architects
- International Interior Design Association
- The Bar Association
- The Industrial Design Society of America

The newest member of the Generation family

The sustainable design of the ReGeneration chair is to minimize waste by reducing the number of parts and connections needed to assemble the chair, which means there is less material, less parts, less weight, less costs and less adverse environmental impact.

Comfort, support, flexibility and resistance, all without adjustable parts, is possible! Sit How You Want and move effortlessly in today's collaborative workplace.
